

Underwriting Contribution Form

The St. Avips Ball and Art Auction is an annual ball to benefit George A. Spiva Center for the Arts. The Ball will be held on Friday, May 6, 2022, at the Roxy/Amelie Event Center. The event is presented by The Friends of St. Avips.

For a donation of $350 or more, you will receive complimentary ticket(s) to attend the Ball plus be recognized in related publicity depending on the level of giving. The Friends of St. Avips is a 501(c)3 organization dedicated to providing additional income for the George A. Spiva Center for the Arts. Your donation is tax-deductible, as allowed by law, and you will receive a tax receipt for the value of your donation from The Friends of St. Avips. The date of your contribution will determine which year your tax receipt will be dated.

We appreciate your consideration!

St. Avips Ball

Organized in 1963, The Friends of St. Avips is a permanent 501(c)3 organization of women who volunteer their time and efforts to promote interest in and provide additional income for the George A. Spiva Center for the Arts.

Spiva Center for the Arts has provided quality visual arts experiences for the four-state region since 1947. To date, The Friends of St. Avips has been able to provide the art center with funding in excess of $1 million.

In 1999, the art auction was added to the annual ball, offering original works from area artists. This allows ball patrons the opportunity to purchase beautiful works by talented artists and increase financial support to Spiva.

In addition to the Ball, the members of St. Avips assist at show opening receptions, help at the Center, sponsors exhibits, and participate in other fundraising events for the Center. The Friends of St. Avips seeks sponsorships and contributions to offset expenses in order to support the Center as much as possible, operating independently of George A. Spiva Center for the Arts, but with its full cooperation and support.

Various opportunities of support are available, and donors underwriting $350 or more will be recognized at the event and related publicity.
